

Leave Wisconsin's no call list the way it is. It's one of the best things we did when we put our number on it. When it started, we had a baby girl and numerous times the phone would ring when we are trying to put her down for naps and even when we were trying to put both kids to bed. The lack of calls is one of the most pleasant things ever. If we need something, we will find it and call them.